

DROP DEAD DISCO

Murder Mystery & Costume Party

Dust off your disco duds, poof up your pompadour and get ready to get down and boogie at the hottest spot this side of the seventies—it's opening night at the DROP DEAD DISCO (located at the Wawonowin Country Club in Ely Township).

Putting aside personal differences, club owners Paulie, Esther & Cotton Blend are pulling out all the stops to put a glow in your mood ring and a song in your heart. Their inheritance depends on it.

Persuaded by their adopted parents to abandon previous occupations, the Blend Siblings have decided to operate a discotheque. From inception to completion, the only thing the three agreed on was the name: DROP DEAD!

Paulie has hired a blind person to be the DJ — “blind people have great hearing” was his rationale. Cotton got the doorman through a friend for a favor and Esther is contributing a contest idea — she's even picked up a few prizes. Don't ask if they were paid for. Paulie's a little worried about a rumour that an undercover investigator from the IRS will be in the club — he knows that, at the end of the night, the money and the receipts won't match up. Esther is keeping crooked company, and this is Cotton's first public appearance since he got out of jail. They are all taking a chance on the night life.

So dance out your wardrobe, ante up your attitude and hustle down to the DROP DEAD DISCO—Where people are dying to get in.

Enter to win the John Travolta Look-a-Like or Disco Queen Contest or just enjoy solving the mystery. Either way the competition could be....stiff.

A great meal will be included with your ticket and dessert by our one and only Yooper Goddess!
